TITLE: Eklutna Vocational School Collection

COLLECTION NUMBER: B1980.026

OVERVIEW OF THE COLLECTION

Dates: 1942-1943

Extent: 26 items, .2 linear feet.

Language and Scripts: The collection is in English.

Name of creator(s): Hettie Pointer.

Administrative/Biographical History:

Hettie Pointer moved to Alaska in the early 1940s to be near her daughter, Hortense Hanshew, wife of U.S. Hanshew, for whom Hanshew Middle School was named. According to her granddaughter, Mary Pointer of Anchor Point, Alaska, Hettie Pointer worked as a cook at Ft. Richardson during the war years. In the mid-1940s, Hettie lived at and worked as a cook at the Eklutna Vocational School. The Eklutna Vocational School was built by the Department of Interior's Bureau of Education in 1924 to house and educate children orphaned by the 1918 influenza epidemic in Alaska. A fish camp was built and maintained by the school as well, to provide training in subsistence fishing and to help provide food for the children. Courses at the school were mainly vocational training classes. By 1930, 110 students were enrolled at the school. In 1946, the school's buildings were condemned and the school was permanently closed. Hettie Pointer died in 1963 and is buried at Angelus Memorial Park in Anchorage, along with her daughter and son-in-law.

Scope and Content Description: The collection consists of the 1943 yearbook of the Eklutna Vocational School, and 25 photographs of the school's buildings, students, teachers, athletic teams, clubs, and events. The yearbook includes senior wills, descriptions of school clubs and activities, faculty information, and names of class members.
