TITLE: Doris Rhodes Slides

COLLECTION NUMBER: B1993.020

OVERVIEW OF THE COLLECTION

Dates: 1943-1985

Extent: 4 boxes; 4 linear feet

Language and Scripts: The collection is in English.

Name of creator(s): Doris Nye Rhodes, Thurston M. Nye, Vida Nye, Griffin's, Malcolm Lockwood, Vic Hessler, Arctic Circle Enterprises, Robinson Studios, Steve McCutcheon, Cecil Rhode, Robert A. Hall, B. Hulm, Jim Shives, Meston's, Vacation Films

Administrative/Biographical History:

Vida Nye arrived in Anchorage in 1942 with her husband, Thurston Nye. The couple had been living in Toledo, Oregon, where Thurston worked at the sawmill. The two spent three months establishing residency in Alaska before being allowed to work; Thurston spent the three months working for alcohol supplier Milt Odom. Vida soon found work at Ft. Richardson in hangar D-47, where materiel for the war in the Aleutians was received and shipped out. Vida and Thurston stayed in Anchorage until 1946, when they drove out the Alaska Highway. The couple returned in 1955 and died in Anchorage, Vida in January 1978 and Thurston in August 1979.

Doris Nye Rhodes and Glen Rhodes co-owned a sawmill on the Oregon coast for eight years, then shipped the mill to Anchorage in 1955. In Alaska, they opened Bird Creek Sawmill on Turnagain Arm with Thurston Nye. After selling the sawmill, Glen found employment with the Anchorage School District, where he worked for more than 20 years at the school bus garage, retiring as foreman. He drove over the Alaska Highway many times, delivering school buses to Anchorage. Doris worked for the Bureau of Land Management for many years. Glen and Doris had three children: Glenda, Karen Sue, and Mark.

Scope and Content Description:

The collection consists of 3797 personal and commercially produced 35mm color slides of Alaskan life. The Rhodes traveled around the state to communities both on and off the road system. Several road trips are documented, including a trip up the Dempster Highway to Inuvik in 1981. The long time period and Doris Rhodes' particular interest in documenting both new and old buildings, infrastructure, and culture helps illustrate the growth of Alaska and of Anchorage in particular. Notable events documented include the Statehood celebration in 1958, Pope John Paul II's visit to Anchorage in 1981, and Anchorage's annual Fur Rendezvous winter festival.

Arrangement: Originally accessioned with minimal subject arrangement (1-1975). First and second addenda arranged chronologically, with commercial slides placed at end. Third addendum (3671-3797) arranged chronologically. See Processing Note.

ADMINISTRATIVE INFORMATION

Acquisition and Appraisal Information

Donated by Doris Rhodes in 1993.

Processing Note

Slides originally numbered in sequence (1-1975), then distributed to slide files. Removed from slide files in 2010-2011 and reordered in accession number order. Several boxes of unnumbered slides located in backlog and added as addendum with continuous numbering in 2013. A second batch was located in the backlog after numbering had begun on the first accrual; a second chronological series was created for the second addendum. Third addendum found in mislabeled box in August 2013 and added at end. Many slide labels coming loose in 2013; accession numbers added in pencil on most slide housings. Many early accession numbers duplicated; individuated with addition of letters during renumbering in 2013. Several numbers missing at the time of processing; it is unknown whether these represent missing slides or errors in accessioning.

Note

Rhodes often used FAA airport codes to designate locations.
