

B95.25 Jessie Noble Collection. 197 Photographs. 1915-1930

Jessie Noble and her husband lived in Anchorage, Alaska from 1815 through the 1930s.

This collection contains 197 photographs and postcards. The photographs depict Anchorage, Eklutna, and the surrounding areas. Images focus on telephone service and power generation, including interior images of the wireless station on Government Hill, and the stringing of telephone lines in Anchorage. There are a small number of images of the Aleutian Islands and Southeast Alaska included in the collection.

This collection was donated to the Anchorage Museum in 1995.
