Administrative/Biographical History:

Marcus V. Tyler was born circa 1878 in Cheney, Washington, to Mrs. L.E. Tyler. In 1901, Marcus was living in Dawson City, Yukon Territory. Another, undated, photograph in the collection shows the store Tyler and his partner, Albert J. Johnson, operated in Brooks, Alaska (.25). In the period circa 1919-1921, the two were Anchorage-based photographers for the Alaska Engineering Commission, and supplied photographs for the JT and TT series of A.E.C. images. In November-December 1921, Marcus was employed as a ranger at Mount McKinley National Park. No information on his date or place of death was available at the time of processing.
