TITLE: Vernon Humble Collection

COLLECTION NUMBER: B1972.046

OVERVIEW OF THE COLLECTION

Dates: circa 1890-1920s

Extent: 0.4 linear feet; 1 box

Language and Scripts: The collection is in English.

Name of creator(s): Edwin Tappan Adney, John M. Blankenberg, George Gordon Cantwell, Case & Draper, Jeremiah D. Doody, S. B. Dunn, H. J. Goetzman, M. Goetzman, E. A. Hegg, Kinsey & Kinsey, H. T. Misumi, Frank H. Nowell, Lorenzo E. Robertson, Mrs. L. E. Robertson

Administrative/Biographical History:

Nothing is known of the provenance of the individual images in this collection. Clues on the prints suggest that many of them were created or collected by a professional or semi-professional photographer, possibly living and working in the Dawson area. Others were created by a miner working in Canadian fields. Several bear the same, contemporary handwriting on the verso. Comparisons of handwriting and printing techniques would group the prints into likely fonds.

Scope and Content Description:

The Vernon Humble Collection consists of 309 black-and-white prints dating from the period circa 1890-1920. The images are both commercial stock prints and snapshots printed in a variety of photographic processes including printing out papers, developing out papers, and cyanotypes. The images are primarily of gold mines and gold mining on the Seward Peninsula and during the Klondike Gold Rush, including scenes of the Chilkoot Trail and Dawson City. For more information, see Detailed Description of Collection.

Arrangement: Loosely arranged by subject.

CONDITIONS GOVERNING ACCESS AND USE

Restrictions on Access: The collection is open for research use.

Physical Access: Original items in good condition.

Technical Access: No special equipment is needed to access the materials.

Conditions Governing Reproduction and Use:

The Anchorage Museum is the owner of the materials and makes available reproductions for research, publication, and other uses. Written permission must be obtained from the Anchorage Museum before any reproduction use. The Anchorage Museum does not necessarily hold copyright to all of the materials in the collections. In some cases, permission for use may require seeking additional authorization from the copyright owners.

ADMINISTRATIVE INFORMATION

Acquisition and Appraisal Information

Purchased by the Museum in 1972.

Processing Note

According to accession file, the photographs were originally housed in three albums, presumably deconstructed at the time of accession.

Separated Materials

Images 41a-c are three unseparated Kodak No. 2 prints and as such form an oversize print which was removed to oversize housing.

Note

Note on finding aid created in 2009 reads: "the card catalog shows the accession number for the collection continues on to B72.46.308, with photographs held in the card catalog. However, the images are not labeled to be part of the Humble Collection. If these are truly part of the collection, then the photographs are filed in both the Photo File cabinets, arranged by subject, and by folders in an archival box." Note in accession file lists 181 identified images "plus 131 unidentified, various size, photos (in envelope) received with this collection, to be used for trade purposes."
