Morgan "Chris" Edmunds, Sr., served in various positions with the Alaska Road Commission in the period 1920s-1940s. He was Superintendent of the Southwestern District from 1931-1936. His wife Betty was a rural health nurse who worked with Hudson Stuck.

Scope and Content Description:

The original donation consists of 691 black-and-white photographs and one negative of road construction and maintenance in the Southwest District. An addendum received in 2016 includes 567 black-and-white prints and two tinted photographs. These include both official ARC photos of road construction and maintenance (primarily in Denali National Park and Preserve), and personal family photographs. A portion of images in the collection were collected by Edmunds from other photographers.

Arrangement: Original donation arranged by location and subject. Album pages in 2016 addendum loosely sorted by subject to the extent possible; prints arranged by size.

CONDITIONS GOVERNING ACCESS AND USE
